

Fun-laden 'Sinbad' at Neatishead

The village panto will surely become a regular event of the year at Neatishead if the popularity of "Sinbad the Sailor" is any guide.

This production at the Victory Hall by the Neatishead and Barton Society, carries on the success scored last year when the village had its own pantomime for the first time.

With a cast gathering confidence, and including newcomers to the group, producer Jackie Simpson has achieved a happy and laughter-laden entertainment.

Local references in the story add to the fun as do the slapstick scenes and some enjoyable singing.

Maurice Martin, as a hilarious Mrs. Sinbad, kept the action flowing well and Brenda Mitchell (Sinbad) and Carol Dane (Poppy) gave some fine singing.

The pantomime ends tonight.
